

Rae Billing & CRYBABY

WEBSITE:
www.raebilling.com
www.crybabyband.ca

*For more information, high-res
photographs, interviews,
please contact:*
EMAIL: info@raebilling.com

CRYBABY REUNITED AFTER 20 YEARS...

In 1996 Toronto alt-country band Crybaby released their sole recording, Paintings (produced by Peter J. Moore). The band lasted just four years, but won critical acclaim with Toronto's Eye Magazine placing the album alongside offerings from Lyle Lovett and Blackie & The Rodeo Kings as one of the Top Three Country Albums of 1996.

The band also elicited kudos south of the border, specifically at Austin's South By Southwest Music Festival. Among the many positive reviews, Nashville Scene writer, Michael McCall, characterized their music as "tangy country soul" and called Crybaby one of the "notable moments" of the festival.

Lead singer and songwriter Rae Billing has a voice described as "honest and pure, assured and desperate at the same time" and "shiver-inducing;" her lyrics and music as "full of wide open spaces and bittersweet emotions," and "late night, pan-Americana rootsy songs... handled with gutsy femininity."

After Crybaby, Rae went on to record three albums under her own name with a number of noted Canadian musicians. Her 2001 self-titled album was praised. On his cool Top Ten list of 'Anti-Hits', the Toronto Sun/CANOE's John Sakamoto placed "Walking In A Dream", the closing cut, as number three, describing it as "a heartbreaking rumination on a mind 'slipping sideways.'"

Her 2008 recording, Rae's Blue Black Night, again received critical acclaim, with CBC Radio's Jeff Goodes choosing it as his top Pick Of The Month.

And in 2013, Rae released Walls and Fences, which was chosen as the monthly Number One Album by Canada's respected national roots magazine Penguin Eggs, describing it as "captivating from start to finish".

Late in 2016, Rae brought Crybaby back together to play two 20 year anniversary shows. Alongside Rae, the reunited band includes Steve Koch (Ron Sexsmith) on guitar and Lucky Pete Lambert (Kensington Hillbillies) on drums and backups with the addition of respected Hamilton musicians, Andrew Aldridge (Sarah Slean) on guitar, Greg Brisco (Junkhouse) on keys and Scott Bell (Dinner Belles) on bass.

With the music sounding so good, they went into the studio to do their version of the renowned Bobby Gentry single Ode to Billie Joe. While the music was flowing, they couldn't resist recording one of Rae's original songs... and that led to recording ten more songs scribed by Rae.

The album, Still, released in the spring of 2018, Crybaby (redux!) is better than ever.

Rae Billing & Crybaby

'STILL' REVIEWS

Pick Of The Day April 13, 2018

"The resonant twang of the guitars neatly complements the melancholia-tinged vocals of Rae Billing. Gripping stuff."
KERRY DOOLE • FYI MUSIC NEWS TORONTO

"Full of honest emotion and the kind of instrumental prowess many bands can only aspire to. Check this out."

MAY 2018

ROD NICHOLSON • SCENE MAGAZINE LONDON

View Magazine Cover Story

APRIL 12 2018

RIC TAYLOR • VIEW MAGAZINE HAMILTON

"Really take time to listen to the lyrics as they have an honesty to them you don't often find in music today."

JUNE 2018

KATE JONES • ORCASOUND MONTREAL

"New album called 'Still' contains tales of aching hearts and lost landscapes and a spine-shilling version of Bobby Gentry's classic 'Ode to Billy Joe.'"

JUNE 2018

GRAHAM ROCKINGHAM • HAMILTON SPECTATOR

Simply impressive and breathtakingly beautiful, this second album "Still" by singer Rae Billing and "Crybaby".

JUNE 2018

FREDDY CELIS • ROOTSTIME BELGIUM

PREVIOUS ALBUM REVIEWS

"With her character-filled, one of a kind voice and incredible lyrics, Rae weaves a unique, rootsy, alt-country atmosphere."

LUIS PEREIRA • HAMILTON BLUES LOVERS

"If you are looking for a purely great, soulful album that adds even more credibility to alternative country, then buying Blue Black Night wouldn't be a foolish thing to do."

MAVERICK MAGAZINE UK

"There are not many albums that catch you by the throat as this one does... Blue Black Night is such a rare moment."

FREDDY CELIS • ROOTSTIME BELGIUM

"There is a depth to her songs that few contemporaries have yet to hone."

JASON MACNEIL • ALL MUSIC GUIDE

check out YOUTUBE videos for

Rae Billing & Crybaby - Ode To Billie Joe

Crybaby - A Melody Behind